

LIFE IS SHORT. WEAR COLOR.

Tangerine is the color of 2012. Although orange usually gets a bad reputation, we happen to love the vibrancy of this hue! It's fun, playful and gives any outfit an unexpected punch of color. A lot of women feel that orange is too difficult to wear or that it doesn't complement their skin tone- but that is definitely a misconception. Orange has so many variations- there is a shade for everyone. During the summer months, it illuminates a sun-kissed glow! From tangerine to vermilion to peach to pumpkin, it's impossible not to find the perfect match!

This Zac Posen is a serious stunner with a whole bevy of oranges artfully arranged in color block tiles. The peachy pink panels tone down the orange and emphasize the look of an hourglass shape.

We also love this vermilion hued ruffled Valentino. It's flirty and bright without being garish- perfect with a nude platform and sparkly gold bangles.

This coral colored Mod-Style Bottega Veneta dress is great with a ponytail and wedges. To accessorize, you can pop the look by pulling out a color from the shapes at the neckline. A bright blue shoe is right on trend and would make this simple cotton shift a standout piece.

Be bold, ladies! Stop in today to try on this trendy color!
